CCRE

Annual Energy Leaders Roundtable

Hockley Valley Resort Orangeville, Ontario

WELCOME

On behalf of the Council for Clean and Reliable Energy and our partners, welcome to the 12th CCRE Energy Leaders Roundtable. The theme of this Roundtable is “Energy Transition: Is there a plan?”

We are pleased to have brought together high caliber speakers and participants from the energy industry for open dialogue, a candid exchange of views, and networking among participants. There are several keynote addresses as well as panels introduced by brief presentations at the beginning of each session that are organized around a variety of timely and important topics. We look forward to presentations and discussions from the sessions including:

- Goals and Ambitions Around the Clean Energy Transition: What is the role of municipal governments and what is Toronto’s transition plan?
- Taking into account the scope of the challenge across Canada: What is the chance for achieving transition success?
- Leveraging Existing Proven Technologies to Address the Transition Supply Gap
- Emerging Technologies Needed to Address the Transition Supply Gap
- The Challenge of Financing Distribution New Build
- Capacity Building in Indigenous Communities
- Achieving Climate and Environmental Targets: Are all levels of government and the public able to align on a transition plan?
- Politics and the Energy Sector: The politics of collaboration

We would like to thank our partners: The Ivey Energy Policy and Management Centre at the University of Western Ontario and the Power Workers’ Union. We would also like to thank our sponsors for their support: Ivey Energy Policy and Management Centre, Power Workers’ Union, Bruce Power, Makwa Development Corporation and Gowling WLG (Canada) LLP.

The Council is a group of volunteers who have an interest in promoting open debate about energy issues. We do not represent a particular interest group and attempt to bring together a broad range of stakeholders who share an interest in good public policy.

About the Council

The Council for Clean & Reliable Energy (CCRE) is a federally incorporated non-profit organization that provides a platform for dialogue and analysis on subjects related to energy policy. The CCRE was formed by a group representing academia, public and private sector business leaders, First Nations, and labour. The Council understands the value of creating a broader and more inclusive public discourse.

During the last decade, the Council has facilitated conferences, thought leaders roundtables, distributed opinioned publications, and shared knowledge and expertise. Its efforts have been recognized and appreciated by decision-makers in government and the energy business as providing a neutral forum for the free exchange of ideas and opinions. The Council remains committed to continuing to facilitate debate on the generation, transmission, and distribution of clean, affordable, and reliable energy with a clear focus on finding effective solutions for Canada and abroad.

Our Mandate

- To promote the generation, transmission, and distribution of clean, affordable, and reliable energy.
- To broaden public knowledge and understanding of the full range of available solutions and encourage fact-based reviews of the best available technologies on generation and emissions control.
- To encourage government action(s) regarding the generation, transmission and distribution of clean, affordable, and reliable energy that will enhance and sustain long-term economic growth and the environment.
- To encourage and promote ongoing independent research into policies and technologies that promotes clean, affordable, and reliable energy.

Thank you to our Speakers and Presenters

As an expression of appreciation to the Roundtable speakers and presenters, the CCRE has donated to the Bruce Trail. The Bruce Trail is a hiking trail in southern Ontario, Canada, that extends from the Niagara River to the tip of Tobermory, Ontario. The main trail is more than 890 km long and there are over 400 km of associated side trails.
